Chief Growth Officer - Creative HQ

Topic: From Silo to System -
A 4C Ecosystem Approach to
Embedding International Education in School Practice

Dr. Colin Kennedy, Chief Growth Officer at Creative HQ and Founder of its School of Innovation, is a global leader in innovation education.

With 25+ years in education and leadership roles - including at Fulbright New Zealand and Victoria University of Wellington - he builds startup mindsets and innovation capability across sectors.

His work bridges academic theory and entrepreneurial practice, with a strong focus on ecosystem building, educational inequality, and preparing youth and organisations for future economies.

A published researcher and international speaker, Dr. Kennedy brings deep global experience and cultural insight, making him a powerful contributor to discussions on innovation and transformative learning.
