Dr Patrick Pheasant is a counsellor, coach, and consultant specialising in English language teaching, learning, and assessment. With a career spanning three decades—including 7 years leading quality assurance as CEO of NEAS—Patrick brings a deep understanding of what makes a high-quality student experience.

In this workshop, Patrick combines his ELT expertise with his clinical understanding of mental health to explore the power of process drama. He advocates for the use of narrative and role-play to unlock "deeper learning," helping students develop the critical thinking and empathy skills necessary to thrive in a new school environment.
