Jane Thomas

Sales & Training Manager - Nui Software

Topic: Homestays Made Simple – Managing Accommodation in eSchool

Jane Thomas is the Sales & Training Manager at Nui Software, where she has spent the past eight years supporting schools across New Zealand to successfully implement and use eSchool - New Zealand's only fully featured, purpose-built international student management software.

Jane has worked closely with school teams, delivering training and ongoing support, and is passionate about helping eSchool integrate into day-to-day operations to streamline systems and improve efficiency. She especially enjoys working with schools and seeing the positive impact eSchool has when it's working well alongside people and processes.

Prior to joining Nui Software, Jane spent five years working within international education, including roles as an administrator, homestay coordinator, and international director. This hands-on experience gives her a strong understanding of the realities and requirements of international student management, and allows her to bring practical insight to her work with schools.
