Speaker Bio:

Director of International
Students, Epsom Girls
Grammar School, Auckland

Topic -
Cultivating Collaborative
Partnerships

For the past almost 20 years I've held the position of Director of International Students, first at Papatoetoe High school and for the last 10 years in the same role at Epsom Girls Grammar School.

In my role at EGGS, I have built strong partnerships with many stakeholders including Government agencies, offshore NZ embassies, and global agent networks as well as facilitating strong collaborations between cluster schools in several markets, all to promote NZ as the wonderful study destination that it is.

From 2018 to date I have served as a SIEBA Board member and was re-elected in 2021, where I now hold the chairwoman position.

Having had the great honour of serving in the education industry for almost 20 years, I appreciate the importance of the role it plays in changing the future of the students we have the privilege of enrolling at our institutions, and I never underestimate the strength that sharing knowledge and resources brings to us all as an industry. I look forward to continuing to grow and learn from you all throughout the opportunities that the SIEBA Hui presents and beyond.
